

- 14 -

ABSTRACT

A device for feeding particulate material includes a conveyor belt, a material inlet located above at least a first portion of the conveyor belt, and a movable plate located above at least a second portion of the conveyor belt, that 5 provides a force on the particulate material.